

NOVEMBER 2018

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2ND – TAMARA DMENT TRIO (Jazz Piano + VOCAL)

Tamara is a sought after and versatile musician noted for her dark, resonant tone and lyrical improvisation. She has been a featured jazz performer for events funded by the Mid Atlantic Center for the Arts, as well as Cape May Jazz Vespers, Jersey Shore Jazz Vespers and Cape May Music Festival. Originally from Atlantic County, New Jersey, Tamara studied the violin in Philadelphia. At a young age, she began studying with Philly's iconic teacher, Julian Meyer of the Temple University Preparatory Division.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3RD –TIM BREY TRIO (Jazz Piano + BASS)

Tim Brey is a young in-demand jazz pianist living in Philadelphia, and a recent graduate of Temple University with a Bachelor's of Music in Jazz Studies. He has had the privilege of performing in small groups led by Norman David, Dick Oatts, Noah Preminger, Joanna Pascale, Terell Stafford, and John Swana. At just 24 years old, Brey has performed internationally at the "Keep an Eye on Jazz" competition at the Conservatorium van Amsterdam (2012), and with saxophonist Raymond McMorrin in Urayasu and Fukushima, Japan (2013). Brey's extensive knowledge of the Great American Songbook and his commitment to keeping jazz fresh and relevant in an evolving, modern musical climate have made him a premier jazz solo pianist, leader, and sideman in Philadelphia and beyond.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 9TH –BRIAN LAPANN (Jazz Vocal + Guitar)

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 10TH –GREGG CAGNO (GUITAR + VOCAL)

Gregg Cagno is a studied and experienced performer and entertainer. His warm baritone communicates joy, wit, love and a range of emotions without pretense. Comfortable and warm with an audience, he's as creative an interpreter of other's works as he is his own, drawing material from a spectrum broad enough to include both Joni Mitchell and Frank Loesser. Gregg has won prestigious awards for his performance and song writing abilities. He has toured nationally opening for folk/rock artists such as Pete Seeger, James Taylor, America & Poco. Gregg has also had the honor of playing on The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts' Millennium Stage.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 16TH –Sharon Sable (Jazz Vocal)

Sharon and Shawn are becoming the region's most beloved jazz/pop duo. Their repertoire includes everything from The Beatles to King Crimson, and Ella Fitzgerald to Bjork. When they are not performing in clubs & concert settings, they are playing wedding ceremonies and cocktail hours, in addition to other private events. Sharon and Shawn are currently working on a new album of classic and original music.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 17TH –Tom Moon (Jazz Piano/ BASS / TENOR SAX)

Tom Moon (tenor saxophone/flute) leads Jazz Casual, one of several Moon groups performing regularly in the Philadelphia area. To us, music begins with great melody – we play torchy ballads and Great American Songbook tunes, as well as jazz and bossa nova classics and sleek, ear-pleasing originals. Moon's various projects appear regularly at Time Restaurant and Whiskey Bar, Milkboy Philadelphia, The Four Seasons Hotel, World Cafe Live and other venues. Chris Aschman is one of Philadelphia's most active freelance musicians. As at home on the steelpan as he is on the trumpet, he brings a versatile and individual touch to the many ensembles he performs with. Originally from Baltimore, he studied jazz trumpet at the University of the Arts and soon found himself immersed in Philadelphia's cultured music scene.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 23RD – AARON PARNELL BROWN DUO (Jazz Vocal + Piano)

With his trailblazing, instantly memorable songs and gritty, unvarnished vocals, Aaron Parnell Brown is among the most extraordinary up-and-comers in the roots rhythm and blues world. His deep familiarity with the roots rhythm and blues tradition allows him to bust the genre wide open, adding new sounds, colors and textures, all delivered with a revival tent preacher's fervor and a natural storyteller's charisma. Since the 2012 release of his self-released debut, Sing, Brown's meteoric rise from playing small clubs in Northeastern Pennsylvania to playing live on the iconic NPR roots music show Mountain Stage (in West Virginia) is nothing short of phenomenal. With accolades like winning an Independent Music Award and Soul/R&B Artist Of The Year (Tri State Indie Music Awards) he continues to set the roots rhythm and blues world on fire.

SATURDAY NOVEMBER 24TH – Vance Camisa Jazz Ensemble (Jazz Piano/Guitar/Bass)

The Vance Camisa Jazz strives for the best in swing and bebop. They draw heavily on the standards of the 1930s and 1940s, recreating the polished sounds and foot-tapping rhythms of the heyday of jazz. The ensemble will transport you to the glory days of New York's famous 52nd Street clubs, without any hint of sounding dated or self-conscious. The quartet's fluidity, enthusiasm for their art and ease with their uncompromised playing style prove the timelessness of good, heartfelt jazz. Hearing the Vance Camisa Jazz Quartet helps one understand why America's only true art form has sustained universal appeal across the

FRIDAY NOVEMBER 30TH – CHRISTOPHER DAVIS SHANNON (Jazz Vocal + Guitar)

Christopher Davis-Shannon's music is the essence of honest simplicity. Steeped strongly in the piedmont and delta fingerstyle blues traditions, his performances bring you back to a time of juke joints and smoky blues clubs of the early 20th century south. A modern vagabond he has toured the country as a performer the past 3 years, performing from Las Vegas to New Orleans and throughout the South. Davis-Shannon performs a mix of blues and jazz standards, traditional spirituals and his own originals which are steeped in the age old styles he holds close to his heart. His intricate guitar work and plaintive vocals are infused with soulfulness which cannot be faked, and a respect for his predecessors which is rarely equaled. Christopher Davis-Shannon's act has already caught the attention of several beloved music promoters in the greater Philadelphia area, and shows no signs of slowing anytime soon.
